

CAPITAL COMMUNITY TELEVISION REPORT OF SERVICES

July 1 2007 - June 20, 2009

CCTV's MISSION STATEMENT

Empowering people to communicate and providing community information through television.

CCTV'S VALUES

Democracy and the First Amendment

All people in a democracy have the right and responsibility to take part in the decisions that affect them and their communities. Freedom of speech is vital to a healthy democracy and is guaranteed in the First Amendment. CCTV provides the community with the opportunity for political, cultural, artistic, spiritual, and individual expression on television.

Community Decision-Making

Freedom of expression alone is not enough to ensure a healthy democracy. Citizens must also enter into active discussion and debate in order to participate in solving problems for the common good. CCTV promotes the use of non-commercial channels 21, 22, 23 and production facilities as an electronic forum for discussing issues and solving problems.

Access to Information

A well-informed, actively-involved citizenry makes more responsible decisions. CCTV televises local government meetings, activities of local schools and service-related information to stimulate an active dialogue among elected officials, schools and local citizens.

Diversity and Inclusiveness

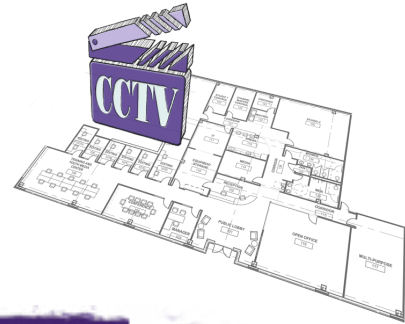

Democracy is most effective in a society in which all members can participate. CCTV encourages understanding and collaboration across barriers of race, culture, language, class, gender and age.

Media Literacy

Community TV offers an alternative to commercial television. CCTV provides the training and tools necessary for people to become knowledgeable and effective communicators, able to view television critically and to use that medium to tell their own stories.

“CCTV’s new center will be a community asset for decades. It’s the ideal blend of media function and a welcoming attractiveness.”
Alan Bushong

Opening the Community TV Center of Today and Tomorrow

By Alan Bushong

On December 18, 2008 CCTV joined the City of Salem, Marion County, Cascadia Development, Willamette University and Comcast Cable to open a terrific new building at the corner of Church and Trade Street. For CCTV and those in the community using Channels 21, 22 and 23, CCTV's first floor center provides a great place to use television and the internet to give this community a presence in the dominant electronic media of our time.

We are truly appreciative of our time in the Salem Public Library. During those 18 years, CCTV and our tremendous volunteers:

- connected our local governments to their constituents
- connected the work of our local schools to the community, and
- connected non-profit organizations and individuals to their neighbors, friends and those they had never before reached.

But anyone who had visited CCTV at the Salem Public Library knew the time to move was overdue. A total of 2400 square feet could not provide studio, portable equipment and editing space, channel Master Control, public meeting space and room for eleven staff. When CCTV moved into the library on January 24, 1991, then staff member Ray Larson said, “It’s too small.” I like to say that in 2008 CCTV was in its 18th year of a five year stay. CCTV had doubled, tripled or more in every way, except in adding space.

For seven years CCTV saved capital funds for a new center, anticipating the need for approximately $2.5 million dollars. The only substantial equipment purchase during that time was a badly-needed, computer-server digital channel delivery system. The final building price tag was high enough that the City of Salem sold a public bond at a very low interest rate to pay the balance. Capital funds were being used to pay off the bond. This community will own the community TV center by the end of 2013.

Now CCTV can concentrate on moving to a High Definition (HD) world. Building payments will take a lot of the capital funds for the next four years, but we’ll start the conversion in 2010. HD will help keep CCTV viable in our work to connect this community.

This new center is terrific! We thank the many volunteers who have helped build CCTV with 18 years of hard work. We thank the City of Salem and Marion County for their work with Comcast, Willamette University and Cascadia Development to make this building a reality.

CCTV Welcomes Three New Staff Members in 2007-2008

By Heide Kizer

In February 2007 CCTV hired Young Lorentz as an Equipment and Production Specialist. Young brought an enthusiastic attitude to her new position and a very strong work ethic. Young quickly learned production skills, equipment maintenance & check-out and front desk duties with ease. Young produced government meetings while Soha Badiei was on leave in Africa. Young welcomes everyone to CCTV with a warm smile and efficient service.

Mark Hernandez was hired in March 2008 under a training program. Mark's previous production experience helped him to be a quick study in field productions and his winning way with contacts in the community made him a great asset to CCTV. Moreover, Mark is an adept editor and his sense of humor helps everyone have a better day. After the training program was completed, CCTV was eager to add Mark on as a full-time Staff Producer.

Wendy Brokaw, CCTV's new Outreach & Promotions Specialist, was hired in March 2008. Wendy brought a wealth of experience of working in the media field. Wendy got started immediately working with non-profits in the community and she quickly developed an effective formula for creating the non-profit video brochures. Wendy brings a natural ability and charm to her position and she constantly seizes every opportunity to promote CCTV in our community.

Grand Opening at 575 Trade Street

By Heide Kizer

For 18 years CCTV was located in the basement of the Salem Public Library, but on December 18, 2008 CCTV opened its doors at 575 Trade Street for the first time. The Grand Opening Celebration included the entire building-295 Church Condominiums on the third, fourth & fifth floors, Salem Information Technology on the second floor and, of course, CCTV on the first floor. First, all the guests (approximately 150) gathered in CCTV's lobby for dedication ceremonies by Mayor Janet Taylor. CCTV aired the dedication LIVE to Salem audiences. Next, the public was allowed to tour each of the areas and was provided catered goodies in one of the third floor condos. In addition, CCTV hosted it's Holiday Producer Party in Studio Two which included a raffle drawing in which a lucky producer won a 1 TB hard drive! Finally, the night carried on with a rocking good time in Studio One as many guests stayed to sing their favorite karaoke tunes to the popular, local band, The Flextones. The night was a grand success with everyone looking forward to all that the future can bring in our brand new facility!

CCTV Hosts 2009 Regional Conference

By Heide Kizer

CCTV was host to the 2009 Alliance for Community Media's Northwest Regional Conference on March 13th and 14th.

"Community Media: Now More Than Ever" was the theme emphasizing the importance of keeping the voice of our community members heard during these difficult economic times.

Staff from many ACMWR community media centers visited Salem from as far away as British Columbia and Coos Bay and many from Oregon and Washington. The sessions on Friday included an Opening welcoming attendees with presentations from technology vendors including TelVue, NewTech, and Tightrope. Following that Greg Hiltz led a Training Roundtable while Mark Hernandez and Soha Badieli led others to produce "Now More Than Ever" spots. In the evening CCTV's studio was filled with the sounds of the Flextones and attendees belting out their favorite karaoke tunes.

Saturday included an Outreach to Non-Profits Roundtable with Wendy Brokaw and more chatting with vendors. At noon we headed to Marco Polo Global Restaurant for our Keynote Speaker Luncheon. Helen Soule, ACM Executive Director gave a keynote speech sharing information about herself and her vision for the Alliance's future. To cap it all off was an outstanding Best of the NW Video Awards presentation accompanied by a clip reel edited by Mark Hernandez that elicited loud and frequent approval by the audience.

Participants had fun, learned a few things and mostly enjoyed the opportunity to meet up with esteemed colleagues in the Northwest Region.

CCTV Honors Our Awesome Volunteers

By Heide Kizer

June is a great time of year--time to break out the barbecue and enjoy times outdoors with friends. CCTV does just that each June when we honor our volunteers.

Delicious food, ping pong, Wii, horseshoes and a presentation recognizing the invaluable efforts and talents of CCTV's volunteers make for a great afternoon of fun and appreciation.

Volunteers helped produce 723 hours in 2007 and 725 hours in 2008 of new local programming.

CCTV's award-winning programming is accomplished through hours of hard work by our dedicated volunteers.

Thank you

VOLUNTEERS!

Non-Profit Center Expands Outreach

By Wendy Brokaw

Launched in 2008 with a mission to help Salem-area non-profits extend outreach, CCTV's Non-Profit Center now boasts over thirty video brochures, many with additional Spanish-language versions. The web-based version within CCTV's website hosts individual pages for each non-profit, where viewers have access to these videos world-wide, 24/7. Taking advantage of powerful new social networking tools, CCTV now uploads each video to its YouTube account. From there, non-profits can now embed their video brochure on their websites, blogs, and social networks to further enhance outreach.

Family Building Blocks
Director, Sue Miller

"CCTV is playing a key role in educating the community about early childhood issues and supporting local non-profits through their Non-Profit Center. We appreciate their expertise, leadership and compassion. They continue to make a positive difference in our community."

New Signage

By Greg Hiltz

When CCTV first moved into the Salem Public Library in 1991, Alan Bushong envisioned a neon version of our clapper logo. "I love neon," he said.

With a concrete exterior and other problems beyond our control, the idea of a neon sign remained in the realm of dreams for 18 years.

As anyone who has seen the new building knows, dreams can come true. In mid-2009, CCTV commissioned Cascade Signs to bring the neon clapper to life, and the result is stunning.

I was fortunate enough to be a part of that process, and was asked to design a backlit "marquee" sign in addition to the neon. It features our web address and all three "channel logos" for 21, 22, and 23.

The two signs together provide a classy, professional finishing touch to our new building.

CCTV wins several awards at Hometown, BONW and NATOA in 2007-2009

By Soha Badiei

Over the years, CCTV's staff and its dedicated volunteers have worked hard to produce quality programming, both in content and in production value. Between 2007 and 2009 CCTV received numerous awards for various productions. From the Best of the Northwest Awards in 2007, Training Coordinator Greg Hiltz, along with CCTV's Advanced Summer Camp students received an award in the category of "Video and Art Animation" for "Noodles and Cheese", a short fictional piece involving acting and creative editing.

As one of the newest members of staff, Mark Hernandez says, "I felt genuinely proud to represent our organization". He received an award from NATOA in 2008 in the category of "Visual Arts", as well as an award from Best of the Northwest in the category of "Video Art" both for his channel fill entitled "Salem at Warp Speed".

Salem Community Producers Build Community Through Television

By Heide Kizer

Community Producers in the Salem community bring diverse programming to CCTV Channels 21, 22 and 23. From government programming like Demo Forum (Raymond Dukes) to Entertainment programming like Liberty Hot Wheelz (Dave Hopfer) to Community Voices programming like Secret of Eternal Life (Lilly Janian), producers fill the channels with quality community shows. Producers are also notoriously generous with their time and talents as well. Many producers volunteer on productions that CCTV creates or other producers create. There is definitely a spirit of camaraderie here at CCTV and among community producers. Here are some other shows you may have seen:

- Northwest Drag Racing,*
- George Adams
- Seed of Faith,*
- Sterling Alexander

Orientations Double in Size at New Facility

By Heide Kizer

CCTV orientations are held the first Tuesday of each month at 6:00pm. Orientations give staff an opportunity to explain community television to attendees and to go over rules and procedures. In February 2009, CCTV held its orientation for the largest group yet--over 36 in attendance! The new facility gives us the ability to accommodate more people in a comfortable, inviting space.

The following months continued to show a heightened interest in CCTV by community members.

Orientations	Media Literacy Visits	Presentations/Outreach
